

Home water filters – luxurious goods or compulsory items?

Filtered water has a very good smell and taste, therefore it brings out the full flavour and aroma of tea, coffee and cordials. The taste and texture of meals cooked in filtered water are also greatly improved, which should be immediately appreciated by those who like good, tasty food. Who doesn't?

Drinking filtered water, which due to the unique Eva Filtration System is as pure as possible, you protect your body from harmful bacteria and chemicals that may occur in tap water. Consequently, you may avoid many unpleasant health problems and live a happier life.

Lime scale in water can be a nightmare too, as it demands to be removed regularly from your kettle and it increases its energy consumption. Water processed through the Eva Water Filtration System does not produce lime scale build up and speeds up boiling, which not only saves your money, but also your time.

The Eva Water Filter is absolutely environmental friendly, it does not produce any plastic waste, like bottled water, and does not use any electricity. This advanced technology is based only on the natural force of gravity. There are also no transport issues as water that is as pure as possible is available at arm's reach every time you need it.
